

New urban proletariat
Emilia Roza Sulek

The Study | 4-5

Pakistan clarified
Kristoffel Lieten

The Review | 24

Chaekgeori: the power of books

The Portrait | 56

IIAS

International Institute for Asian Studies

theNewsletter

Encouraging knowledge and enhancing the study of Asia

75
Does language equal ethnicity in Burma?

This Focus moves forward a long-stalled reconsideration to argue that the relationship between language, ethnicity, and identity in Burma is not necessarily set in stone. Rather, language may be one element informing an ongoing process that various groups engage in to define themselves in relation to others.